CLT in Texas - Austin

The passage of Texas Senate Bill 402, which became law in 2012, allows cities to confer land trust status on nonprofit organizations and specifies tax exemptions that county appraisal districts must grant.

The first CLT home sale in Texas was in 2011 in Austin. The organization that completed the first CLT home sale in Texas is a non-profit affordable housing development organization in Central East Austin named Guadalupe Neighborhood Development Corporation ("GNDC").

Types of CLT Houses

- CLT homes will look like any other home that you can purchase on the market.
- The ownership structure is different because the land will be owned by the CLT organization and not the homeowner.
- CLT homes can be homes that are newly constructed, or they can be existing homes that are converted into CLT homeownership units.
- CLT homes can be together in one subdivision or scattered across a geographic service area on non-contiguous parcels of land.
